

BROWNLEE AND PROVINCE DEFICIT

Falling revenue, combined with unforeseen and extraordinary expenditures were the main causes of the deficit of $2,306,381 recorded by the Alberta government for the fiscal year ending on March 31, according to Premier J. E. Brownlee.

In the period 1925-1930 the Province had a surplus totalling $2,401,386.94. The current situation can be likened to the years 1921 and 1922, when substantial deficits also were recorded.

Alberta's deficit is considerably lower than those of either neighboring provinces, it being known that Saskatchewan's is in the neighborhood of $3,500,000, and British Columbia's is in excess of $3,000,000.

Dealing with the Wheat Pool situation the Premier said: "No difficulty is being experienced with the banks as regards the basis of settlement which was agreed upon some time ago. The banks have agreed to take 20-year bonds on a very fair rate of interest in settlement and the Province will in turn take Wheat Pool bonds of a similar nature, all payments from the Pool going to a special sinking fund to retire the debt to the banks. From operations of the Pool so far this year, we have every reason to feel it can make prompt payments and thus retire the whole obligation at an early date."

"Without wishing in any way to detract from the amount of the deficit," said the Premier, "it is only fair to the general public to point out that this deficit hardly reflects a fair statement of the annual operating results of the year, as two or three items alone involving approximately $604,000, must be credited as special expenditures not ordinarily looked for in the expenditure of a year."

"These are the provincial general election of June 15, 1930, which cost $100,000, the freight charges on seed and relief to drought areas, which cost $57,000, and extra grants to schools, which amounted to $387,000."

"It needs no argument to show that the general election expenses come only once in four or five years, depending upon the duration of the legislature. In some provinces a perfectly legitimate practice is followed of writing off the election expenses, over a period of five years instead of charging it entirely against the one in which the election occurs. After some consideration the Government decided to write the whole amount off as against the operations of the last fiscal year."

"On the other hand, there was a very great falling off in revenue during the year, as compared with 1930. More particularly was this true of such items as the following, with their decreases: Real and personal property, $371,000; amusement tax, $93,765; succession duties, $344,334; automobile licenses, $329,657, and Liquor Control Act, $698,097, or a decrease in revenue from these sources alone of $1,837,753."

In the same fiscal year, the Alberta Government Telephones show a deficit in operating of $144,170.26, although

LIBERALS NAME BANNERMAN
FOR RED DEER CANDIDATE

James Bannerman received the nomination at the convention of Liberals of the Red Deer constituency held at Red Deer last Friday. J.W. McDonald, K.C., of Macleod, the party leader of the province, was present to address the meeting.

Mr. Bannerman, is an old timer of Red Deer, going there in the early days and operating the old ferry at the one-time town-site four miles up the river. He moved to Edmonton a few years ago, and returned to the district lately to farm near Leslieville. He is said to be a strong candidate for the Red Deer by-election.

Unemployment
Not in Territories

A country, covering two-fifths of the total area of Canada, that is free of poverty and unemployment, without a suggestion of communism, is found in the "Territories" according to Col. J. K. Cornwall, veteran trader of the Arctic Circle and the North West Territories, following his return to civilization from the district of Great Bear Lake, where new mining developments have created great interest during the past summer.

In this land there are about 1000 white men, including traders, trappers, prospectors and fishermen, and about 5000 Indians and Eskimos. Doctors are the only professional men and, if they were not subsidized by the government to give medical attention to the Indians, they would be the poorest men in the country, because health prevails everywhere. Col. Cornwall told newspapermen.

According to the Council of the Stauffer Municipal District, no word of any relief being required has been received.

A Bob's sailing plane, modelled on the glider which took the world's record by staying in the air 15 hours, has been constructed by three Macleod men—Rover Hunt, a contractor; Frank McNab, a mechanical farmer, and Orville Stewart, garage operator. Three months were required to complete the glider. Short trials have proven satisfactory, and an extended test will be made in due time.

the net corporate deficit to be carried forward at the close of the fiscal year was only $39,670, due to the fact that surpluses in the preceding financial year were carried forward into the present fiscal year and had been applied against deficit.

"No unnecessary alarm need therefore to be felt as the task today is exactly what it was in 1921," he said, "namely, to cut down expenditure in every possible direction until the return to normal times shows itself in more buoyant revenues. To this task the government is setting its face and is at present making a very exhaustive study of the whole question of Government expenditures."

CARBON GAME
ASS'N INACTIVE

The annual meeting of the Alberta Fish and Game Association will be held in Calgary on November 20th. There is a branch of the Association in Carbon, called The Carbon Game Association, which was formed in 1928, but which has been inactive.

At this Annual meet of the Provincial Association, resolutions will be received from the smaller associations and discussed. The Carbon Game Association should become active once more, and give their feeling on the matter of seasons, etc., for game.

We offer the following suggestion as a resolution, that would be proper in our opinion, to forward to the Game Association to act upon as they see fit; also a copy of this resolution would be in order if sent to the provincial member of parliament, and to the Game Commissioner, to act upon.

It seems that our law makers—and even our Provincial Game Association officers—are not exactly familiar with conditions all over the province and the north west territories, and instead are taking the word of many unreliable people for information regarding the shortage of game birds and their destruction by the hunters. We would also suggest at this time, that before the Provincial government acts upon any resolutions, that they send out a delegation of reliable men, during the hunting season, when the birds are down from the north, to all parts of the province, and then base their opinions and make their laws accordingly.

The following is the suggestion for the resolution:

WHEREAS, the bag limit in Alberta will tend to conserve the wanton destruction of water fowl, and

WHEREAS, the bag limit of 15 ducks per day and 100 per season, is quite within reason, and

WHEREAS, should water fowl be protected in Canada, United States hunters will be the ones to benefit, thus taking away our Canadian right of freedom, and

WHEREAS, the only places where there has been a shortage of ducks and geese is where sloughs and lakes have dried up, and

WHEREAS, in places where water exists there is more game than usual this year, thus equalizing the number of water fowl in various places in the Province.

WHEREAS the Hungarian Partridge is rapidly increasing in numbers, and

WHEREAS, the Sand Hill Cranes appear to be more numerous than geese in their favorite localities, and are doing considerable damage to crops (being protected by law)

The Carbon Game Association urges the Provincial Government to make no alterations in the 1931 Game Regulations as regards shooting of game birds and bag limits, other than that the open season on Hungarian Partridge commence on September 15th, instead of October 1st as at present, and that the season for Sand Hill Cranes be opened in Alberta from the first of October to November 15th.

In our opinion the above resolution would be quite favorable to conserve game as far as the power of Provincial law is concerned, and the birthright of Canadians (liberty to hunt the waterfowl) would be preserved.

Alberta's few thousand hunters can not destroy the wild fowl with the gun.

James Haslett of Red Deer threshed his prize field of wheat, and the thirteen and one half acres yielded 995 bushels, approximately 73 bushels per acre. It has not been graded yet, but is a fine sample of Marquis. This field won the provincial championship for the best stand of wheat in Alberta. In an entry list of over two hundred.

Father was sent by mother to get Billy home from his baseball playing. An hour later they came home together.

"Was he safe?" Mother cried.

"Safe a mile, but the umpire called him out."

"Why didn't you bring him home?"

"I tried to, but the shortstop made a great catch."

13th Government
Crop Report

Since October 9th, warm bright weather has prevailed throughout Alberta and during the past week excellent progress has been made with threshing. In the Peace River district about 80 per cent of threshing has been completed, and a large part of the grain remaining has been stacked. In northern Alberta threshing is everywhere progressing rapidly. The amount completed varies from 15 to 50 per cent with an average of about 40 per cent. In the central part of the Province about 75 per cent of all grains are threshed, while in the south threshing has been completed for some time.

In central and northern Alberta and the Peace River district a considerable percentage of early threshed wheat graded tough. At present however, practically all wheat is receiving straight grades and if present weather conditions continue, the percentage of the total crop grading tough and damp will be comparatively small. A large percentage of the wheat being marketed at present grades No. 1 and No. 2 Northern.

Yields reported at various points indicate that the Federal Bureau of Statistics estimate of 17.5 bushels per acre throughout the Province will be sustained. Lacombe reports yields of from 30 to 75 bushels of wheat, 50 to 100 bushels of oats and 30 to 60 bushels of barley.

At Vermilion the estimated average yield of wheat is 30 bushels per acre and in the Peace River district an average of 20 bushels of wheat, 40 bushels of oats per acre are being obtained.

The greater part of the potato and root crop has already been harvested and excellent yields and good quality are reported. On the irrigated districts threshing of sweet clover and alfalfa for seed is well advanced. About 80 per cent of the beet crop has been lifted. 45,080 tons are now stored at the Factory at Raymond and large quantities are still at farms awaiting shipment. The sugar content is reported to be high, and the Sugar beet Factory is operating at full capacity, cutting 1050 tons of beets daily.

Pasture conditions in all parts of the Province with the exception of the east-central and south-eastern districts are excellent. Late rains in the south-west have considerably improved pastures and made fall ploughing possible. In all probability a considerable acreage will be fall ploughed on the irrigated area. Practically no fall ploughing has been done to date outside of these districts.

THRESHING HERE
ALMOST COMPLETE

With the long spell of Indian summer drawing to a close the threshing in the Carbon district is at last nearing completion. Farmers have been getting in every possible day in order to get the late crop threshed before freeze-up and it looks as if they may succeed in finishing up before heavy snows come.

On the whole the yield in the district was better than was at first expected, although in some cases a poor grade of wheat was threshed.

Pastures are short owing to the lack of moisture in the district this fall, although livestock is in good condition and most of the farmers will have ample feed to do them through the winter.

The Western Spirit

Are the people of Western Canada losing, or in danger of losing, that fine pioneer spirit which enabled them in the past to tighten their belts and hang on through times of stress and hardship, and that optimism which, looking to the future, could distinguish the silver lining to the cloud which presently loomed above them? Are the people of this generation losing, or have they lost, this spirit and outlook on life which carried their forefathers into the forests of old Ontario and Quebec to hew out homes, and which inspired the men and women of a generation ago to trek to the vast prairies of the West, build little shacks and break the virgin soil with a crude plow drawn by oxen?

These questions suggest themselves when we hear of the way in which a considerable number of people are reacting to the existing difficulties confronting them during this period of world-wide depression. Unquestionably many men and women are facing their problems just as courageously as ever, but there does appear to be an increasingly large number who are inclined to throw up their hands and rest content to become objects of charity and governmental assistance. There seems to be a tendency on the part of many to depend solely upon relief supplied by others rather than make a real struggle to provide their own relief from existing difficulties.

Government assistance in times of national emergency,—as the Prime Minister of Canada has described the present situation,—is necessary. So, too, is assistance that can be provided by churches, charitable organizations and individuals. Some families must have such assistance, and, because the need has been created through no fault of their own, they are fully deserving of it. But there are many who can get along without it, or at least with a very minimum of such assistance, but who, because of the organization of relief measures on a large scale, are adopting the attitude that they might just as well get a large share, a full share, of what is going on.

In cities and towns cases are constantly cropping up of people who could get along without help but who, lacking pride or even common honesty, have enrolled themselves on relief lists. The writer has even heard of farmers who, having a small crop, neglected to harvest it because, they argued, they could get more government relief if they had nothing than would be the case if they had even a little of their own.

After all, times like the present call for self-denial, self-sacrifice, courageous effort to make the best of things and get along with as little as possible. Before the Great War people were asking questions somewhat similar to those appearing at the beginning of this article. Had the human race deteriorated? The stamina of the race was demonstrated in the fiery furnace of war, not only by men in the trenches, but by the munition worker, the producers of food, transportation workers, and the great mass of people everywhere and in all walks of life. Practically everybody was willing to assume their share of the burden and make their sacrifice, large or small.

A revival of the same spirit is necessary now. True, there were profiteers, and grafters, and slackers, during the war, but they were regarded with loathing and contempt then, and still are. We want none of them now. What Western Canada needs today in order to successfully tide over the existing depression, and to save the country for the future, is the old spirit which was so long the pride and boast of this country,—the courage, the endurance, the optimism of the early pioneers. It was that spirit which made the country what it came to be; it was the same spirit that won the war; it is the same spirit that will save the day now, both in the case of the individuals who display such spirit, and in the country as a whole. Lying down, letting "George do it," trying to get something for nothing, grumbling and fault-finding will not better the situation one whit. It will only make matters worse.

Let us as a people, individually and collectively, stand upright on our own feet and fight our way through. Where there's a will, there's a way. It can be done. It must be done, or we are but creating greater problems and piling up still larger difficulties for the future.

Germany Goes About Collection In Very Thorough Way

The thoroughness with which the German tax of 5 is collected is illustrated by the following incident that occurred at Mannheim Aerodrome, says the Geneva correspondent of the Irish Independent, Dublin.

A German citizen—a woman—was a passenger by air from Holland direct to Switzerland. She had been staying at Amsterdam, and was proceeding right through to Basle. Unfortunately, however, she alighted for a few moments at Mannheim, in Germany, and because she had stepped on German soil she was relieved, despite her protests, of 100 marks for leaving Germany."

Increase Shown In Importation Of Welsh and Scotch Hard Coal

Anthracite coal from the British Isles, imported to Canada through the port of Montreal this season had reached a total of 550,668 tons to the end of September. The figure was 9,373 tons higher than in 1930 to the same date.

Overseas coal and coke receipts for this season are lower than last year by 105,020 tons, due to the embargo on the importation of Russian anthracite. The increase in Welsh and Scotch hard coal has not made up the differences. Last year 148,000 tons of Soviet anthracite was landed here.

Fatigue is the signal to rest. Obey it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry-on in comfort.

Aspirin was meant for just such times, for it insures your comfort. Freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. One tablet will block that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when you've caught a cold, and that's usually the end of it.

Carry Aspirin tablets when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, they will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unproductive hours. Aspirin is harmless, so keep it handy, keep it in mind, and use it. No man of affairs can afford to ignore the score and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the bones, Aspirin tablets are ready with quick relief—and always work. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Any nagging, needless pain.

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They are of perfect purity, absolute uniformity, and have the same action every time. Why experiment with imitations costing a few cents less? The saving is too little. There is too much at stake. But there is economy in the purchase of genuine Aspirin tablets in the large bottles.

Commercial Canning

Fruits and Vegetables Are Canned Under Strict Government Supervision

Commercially canned products, either fruits or vegetables, have an advantage from the technical standpoint of being canned at perfect maturity and within a few hours of harvesting. At one time the canning of fruits and vegetables was almost entirely done in the home; today the modern housewife gets her winter supply of fruits from the products of the up-to-date canning factory.

The pure food laws of Canada provide that canned fruits and vegetables must be sound products made from sterilized, clean, sound, properly matured and prepared fresh fruits or vegetables by means of heat, and kept in suitable, clean containers closed automatically or otherwise, and marked as to conform in name to the particular fruits or vegetables used in their preparation. No adulterated preservative or artificial coloring may be used in commercially canned fruits or vegetables. They may contain only pure water, sugar and salt as preservatives.

All canned products manufactured in Canada are produced under the strict supervision of the commercial canning inspection service of the Dominion fruit branch. Under this service four grades for quality are provided, and these are respectively: Fancy, choice, standard and second. The terms used to describe each grade indicate clearly and concisely the nature and character of the product which qualifies for the grade.

With a little adjusting of conditions here and there, there is every reason why Canada might export between 10,000 and 15,000 horses annually to France, and should also secure a larger share in France's cattle imports, which run to $200,000,000 annually, in the opinion of Michael Sauzet of Paris, who deals with livestock in a large way and who has been spending several weeks in Canada as a purchaser.

The Tageblatt suggests that negotiations might be extended to include a trade of coal for Canadian wheat.

Fundamental Facts In Reference To The Gold Standard And Its Effect On International Trade

(By H. G. L. Strange, Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Company, Limited, Winnipeg)

The expressions "Inflation," "Deflation," "Rates of Exchange," "On the Gold Standard," "Off the Gold Standard," have been much written and talked about during the past few weeks, and inasmuch as expert economists and financiers do not all agree as to the respective benefits or defects of these economic policies, the plain person may be pardoned for being somewhat bewildered by it all.

Perhaps, however, a simple review of some of the fundamental facts upon which the majority of experts seem to agree may be of help at this time.

Countries officially on the gold standard are prepared to pay their debts when due and demanded and to redeem their bonds, notes and bills in actual gold, if required. Countries not officially on the gold standard, usually in order to preserve, behind their bonds, notes and bills, a certain minimum amount of tangible gold security, do not guarantee always to pay their debts at once in tangible gold, although in practice actually they may always do so. (This, without doubt, is exactly the position in which Great Britain finds herself at this moment).

The quoted exchange value of a country's currency, i.e. the pound, the dollar, the franc, the mark, etc., whether that country is on or off the gold standard, simply expresses the opinion of the world at large as to the value of that country's currency, or credit, in terms of gold.

The real value of any country's exchange does not always depend as to whether that country is officially on or off the gold standard, but certainly does depend in the main upon the credit of that country or in the faith that the world at large has that the particular country will always pay its debts, in full, exactly when due, and in some medium of exchange that is acceptable to both parties, or as a last resort in gold.

Naturally the knowledge that a certain country has a large amount of gold in reserve is good tangible evidence of ability to pay, hence of good credit.

That a country balances its budget each year is also evidence that warrants faith. That a country is trading at a profit and so has surplus funds to invest, and that a country is year by year not spending more than it can afford, or that country has valuable potential resources that can be developed to bring in wealth, are all reasons for faith in that country and are reasons that will inevitably result in a high exchange value of that country's currency, whether it is on or off the gold standard.

In the long run the real price of wheat or any other commodity, that is its purchasing value in relation to all other commodities, will depend but very little upon the rates of exchange, or upon whether countries are on or off the gold standard, but will in the main depend upon the relationship of the supply and the demand of wheat or any other commodity, and will further depend also in no small measure upon the purchasing power of those persons who need the commodity wherever they may reside, and the purchasing power of these persons must depend in the long run upon whether somewhere in this world, they can sell the products of their own hands or brains at a profit. If they can do this they are eager buyers of wheat and all commodities, and are willing to pay a fair price because they can afford it. If, however, they are unable to sell the products of their own hands or brains, then naturally they will have but little with which to purchase any commodities, and will only be able to afford those that are offered at a cheap price.

Trade Through Churchill

Bright Future Is Predicted For Western Canada's Seaport

That eventual flow of the main current of trade from central Canada to the east, will probably go over the Hudson Bay route through Churchill in future years, is the opinion of Lloyd Roberts, of Ottawa, son of Dr. Charles G. D. Roberts, eminent Canadian author and poet, who, with his father, was a recent visitor to northern Manitoba. Mr. Roberts stated that while on his visit to the new port he had been informed on good authority that $3,000 was saved in sending the recent test shipment of grain to Churchill from the west, as compared with transporting to Fort William.

Mr. Roberts, a well-known Canadian journalist and, like his father, a writer of prose and poetry, has for six years, been a member of the press gallery at Ottawa.

Abundant Crops For Next Year Predicted

Precipitation Figures Show Guarantee Of Sufficient Moisture For 1932

Prediction that there would be abundant crops throughout western Canada next year, was made by Robert Henderson, mortgage corporation inspector, on his return to Toronto from a two months' tour of the west.

Conditions both on the farms and in the cities were not as black as they had been painted, he said. Certain definite areas in southern Saskatchewan and Alberta were experiencing difficulties, but he cited tax collections, butter production figures and bumper crops in the northern parts of the prairies as indications that things were not as bad as they appeared.

He based his prediction of the crop next year on rainfall statistics for the past few months. Precipitation figures for the past three months, he declared, provided a guarantee of sufficient moisture for 1932.

Bakers' Pastry

Association Discusses Criticism That Cakes All Taste Alike

The criticism that all bakers' cakes taste alike was discussed by several delegates at the convention of the Bread and Cake Bakers' Association at Montreal.

One baker attributed the monotony of flavour to the fact that the trade used too much vanilla essence, killing the taste of the eggs and butter. Another felt that the fault lay in the practice of tasting the cake before it was iced and then tasting the icing before it was put on the cake. Cake and icing should be tasted together in the bakery to get the combined effect. Yet another put forward the explanation that flavouring were often poured in carelessly without accurate measurements.

Bakers only supplied eight to 10 per cent of the cake consumed by the community, declared a delegate.

Canadian Fish For New York

Fish Preserved By New "Quick Freezing" Process Going Forward From Prince Rupert

Commercial shipments of fresh Alaskan salmon and halibut, treated under the new "quick freezing" process of refrigeration, have now begun to move regularly between Prince Rupert and New York, according to the traffic officials of the Canadian National Railways, and at least 20 carloads, each containing some 30,000 pounds of "quick frozen" fish will be moved over Canadian National Railways lines between November 1 and the end of February. It was only last month that the first "quick frozen" fish ever handled between Alaska and the east were delivered in Groton, Conn.

The prodigal son went wrong, but he came back all right.

Has Success With Peanuts

Ukrainian Farmer In Ontario Planted Acre This Year

The Simcoe, Ontario, Reformer, says: Norfolk grows cotton and tobacco!

Also peanuts! Not just a small garden patch of peanuts, but a whole field of them.

On the outskirts of the village of Waterford lives one, Sammy Zerluk, Ukrainian by birth, who has successfully raised and harvested an acre or more of peanuts.

Sammy owns ten acres of land and grows a variety of fine crops, but these peanuts are his especial pride and care.

It was rather a strange thing how he got the idea about growing peanuts. One day he was in the city of Hamilton and from a street corner vendor bought a five-cent bag of peanuts. He opened one or two of them and found the nuts in their natural raw and unroasted condition. Not caring for peanuts of this kind, he took them along home. Next day he thought of planting the peanuts in a flower pot which he did.

The peanuts grew up, produced flourishing plants and multiplied.

That was four years ago. The next year Sammy put a few out in the garden where they seemed to grow equally well. Another year passed and he had quite a patch. There were not such a great quantity of peanuts but sufficient to appease the appetite of his young boys.

Without the slightest knowledge of the science of growing peanuts or of soil and climatic requirements he planted over an acre to peanuts last spring. The soil is a fairly light sandy loam, and the land has a gradual slope. The plants did well from the outset and were as husky looking as a field of potatoes. The plant is not as tall as a potato plant, however, and more resembles the vines of a bean plant. The peanuts cluster thickly about the roots of the plant.

Runs Into Million

A contemporary points out that while home-grown tomatoes are to be seen everywhere at present, "a few months from now we shall be importing them, as usual, from Bermuda." It is interesting to find that Canada imports fresh tomatoes to the extent of about $1,900,000 per year, but in the past these have come chiefly from the United States (more than two-thirds of the total) with Mexico second and Bermuda a poor third.

A total of 47,779 tons of German anthracite has been imported this season. British bituminous imports have reached 19,883, a reduction from last year of 13,662 tons.

In highly optimistic and ringing terms, Premier R. B. Bennett emphasized Canada's unconquerable belief in herself. The Canadian Prime Minister spoke at the opening of the new home of the Canadian Club of New York, recently.

"Canada has an immense, an unconquerable belief in herself," Mr. Bennett declared, and with his remarks wholehearted applause broke forth from his audience. "We have the faith that accepts good times as our natural due and bad times as only an interlude between past prosperity and the greater prosperity that is to come. I suppose we were born that way, and all the forces of world distress are powerless to change us. That does not mean that Canadians are vainglorious, reckless or prodigal, for they are not.

"In any kind of life thrift and economies are virtues, in our pioneering lives, they are veritable necessities. Nor does it mean that Canadians are confused between the facts as they are and as they would have them. We face whatever situation may arise with the knowledge that however bad it may be, hard work by all our people, courage in every walk of life, real and intelligent co-operation among the elements which compose the nation, cannot fail to better our position.

The Prime Minister faced distinguished fellow-Canadians prominent in the professional and business life of the United States.

"I am not here to discuss the state of affairs in Canada," Premier Bennett stated. "But for the purpose, the very happy purpose of meeting old friends whom the turn of events which carry us hither and thither, has too long separated from me.

"Our trade reports, our bank statements, our revenues, our expenditures are published and made available to all. They tell the story of our progress in these troubled times; that, and the fact that our great institutions built upon the foundations we long ago determined to be sound, and unshaken in this economic convulsion which has rocked the world.

"You all know that and the reason as well why, though we have problems, though we have unemployment, though nature this year has been unkind to our western wheat areas, our problems are less acute than those of other countries; our unemployment situation while serious is controllable, and the major calamity in our west is one from which we can forecast an early recovery.

Maybe you didn't know it, but being a prohibition agent is just as dangerous as being an acrobat or a stunt man.

"R.N.A." it is explained, means "risk not accepted."

Remove the rind and seeds from a small pumpkin and cut the flesh in inch cubes. Cook in a small amount of water until tender. Drain and weigh. Next morning cook in same water until the lemon rind is tender. Add the sugar and the pumpkin, and simmer until the pumpkin is transparent. Drain and pack in jars. Cook syrup until it is thick and pour over the fruit in the jars. Seal tightly.

Cattle Reach Paris

Is First Consignment Canada Has Shipped To France

There recently arrived in Paris the first consignment of Canadian cattle ever shipped to France. The shipment consists of 172 head worth 500,000 francs. All were in excellent health and there was not a single casualty in the crossing.

This will be followed by a second consignment shortly. Moreover, French agents will shortly proceed to Canada to purchase lean heifers and steers to replace France's greatly depleted herds. France can assimilate regular weekly shipments of Canadian cattle for fattening.

Owing to veterinary regulations, Canada and Switzerland are the only two countries allowed to export cattle to France, and Switzerland has no exportable surplus.

Natural Resources Will Help Develop Churchill

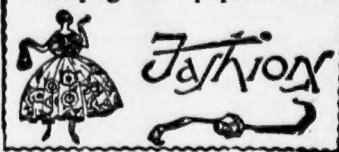

Needs More Than Wheat Asserts Kenneth K. McArdle

Wheat shipments alone could not make Churchill a real port, in the opinion of Kenneth K. McArdle, managing editor of the Commerce of the Nation, organ of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which last month conducted a tour to the new Hudson's Bay ocean port.

"But on the other hand there are vast mineral resources north of The Pas to mile 250, including large marble deposits and limitless water power and I believe that Churchill will definitely come out through the development of the natural resources which lie to the south. Leaders in the western cities are not now so enthusiastic on the Churchill scheme as they once were, but they have interested others who are confidently on the defensive in the support of their undertaking and through their work and interest the dream of the west may come true."

He was addressing the Advertising Club of Montreal.

WHAT NEW VORY IS WEARING
Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Furnished With Every Pattern

Here's a lovely model in printed flat crepe, so smart and easy to wear. It's charmingly slender too. The bodice cuts all in one until it joins the skirt flounce, which makes it especially simple for home seamstress.

Another idea for this easily made model, that will make it appear entirely different, is to make it sleeveless with the cape collar as shown in miniature view.

Dainty chiffon print, eyelet batiste and pastel tub silk make up most attractively with the capelet collar.

Then again for active sports, you can make it with the short sleeves without the capelet. Choose cotton mesh, pique or linen.

Style No. 2922 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 32-inch contrasting.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 25

PAUL IN CORINTH

Golden Text: "Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love."—1 Corinthians 13.13.

Lesson: Acts 18.1-17; 1 Corinthians 13.

Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 13.1-8, 13.

Explanations and Comments

Paul the Tentmaker, verses 1-3.—Last week we left Paul at Berea. From there he went to the province of Achaia and, following what must have been a very disappointing experience in Athens, came to Corinth.

Here at Corinth Paul's ministry lasted eighteen months. He worked at his trade of tentmaker by day and preached at night. Just what Paul's trade was is a matter of doubt. Luther translated the word "carpet manufacturer." Chrysostom describes Paul as standing in his workshop and stitching hides of leather together with his hands. It is generally thought that he made tentcloth from the hair of goats which was called Cilician cloth from the fact that it was made in Cilicia, which was Tarsus, Paul's native home.

Preaching to Jews and Greeks, verses 4, 5. In spite of many discouragements and of physical weakness (1 Corinthians 2.3-5), the lonely missionary "reasoned" in the synagogue every Sabbath, seeking to persuade Jews and Greeks to accept his teaching. The "Greeks" were proselytes in the synagogue, as the distinction of verse six shows.

The effect upon Paul of the coming of Silas and Timothy, who had remained in Macedonia, was electric; encouraged by their presence, his spirits revived and his whole activity became more intense. Paul was a social soul. He worked best in harness with others.

Turning to the Gentiles, verses 6, 7.—The Jews opposed Paul and blasphemed. As Matthew Henry says, they could not argue against Paul's words, but what they wanted in reason they made up in language. Paul then definitely decided to turn his efforts to the Gentiles.

Paul Encouraged, verses 8-11.—Despite his turning to the Gentiles, a noted Jew, Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, and all his house believed Paul's message, and many other Corinthians believed and were baptized. Paul baptized Crispus with his own hands, 1 Corinthians 1.14. "The contingency of the new meeting house for the Christians and the synagogue was not only fruitful in winning converts but also in raising disputes. The conversion of an important personage like Crispus led to increased opposition by the synagogue. It may have grown so bitter that Paul began to question whether he ought not to move on again." Then came the word of the Lord to him in a vision at night encouraging him. "Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace; for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to harm thee; for I have much people in this city."

Royal Winter Fair

Note Of Confidence In Canadian Agriculture Is Sounded

A welcome and refreshing tone of confidence in Canadian agricultural conditions is sounded in the announcement by the management of the Royal Winter Fair that "prospects for entries at the Royal in all departments were never better than at the present moment."

"Exhibitors in the western Provinces are most anxious to continue to display their live stock and other agricultural products," the Royal's statement goes on, "and the Dominion Government and the Provincial Governments, recognizing the advantages of the Provinces continuing to occupy a prominent position at the Royal are contributing their usual financial assistance in transportation and in the selection of the live stock and agricultural products."

"There has been more than the usual number of inquiries from United States points this year and the Royal's survey of Ontario and Quebec indicates that there is considerably more live stock than usual ready for exhibition, so that we are very satisfied that the Winter Fair will open with the best and most representative live stock displays which we have ever had."

"Although general conditions last November were anything but favourable, 1930 was the Royal's record year, not only in exhibits and attendance, but the spirit of the people at the show was happier than at any previous event. We feel sure that the spirit of optimism at that time has served a very useful purpose in that it has enabled Canadians better to view recent economic adjustments with equanimity. We believe that a similar result will be secured at the forthcoming Royal Winter Fair, and be more noticeable perhaps on account of the greater contrast in conditions."

"The Royal this year is designed to commemorate its founding and inauguration ten years ago, when in the depression that followed the war it helped so signally to restore confidence to Dominion agriculture generally. Since its 'birthday' at that time it has established itself as an institution to which Canadians all over Canada have pointed with a very considerable pride."

"The Royal is entering upon its new cycle under conditions which permit it to perform a service to Canada in influencing the general outlook and state of mind of the Canadian people, apart altogether from its influence upon agriculture. The aim of the management is that everyone who visits the Royal and everyone who exhibits there shall be better equipped to meet whatever problems may cross their path in the immediate future."

PAINTS VIVID PICTURE OF THE HORRORS OF WAR

Ottawa, Ont.—Painting a vivid picture of the horror and desolation which must inevitably result from another war, Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General for Canada, addressed students of the University of Ottawa on the problems of disarmament.

The forthcoming disarmament conference at Geneva, in February, 1932, will represent the first attempt yet made to bring about a general limitation or reduction of armaments based on common agreement. Mr. Dupre told his audience. Mr. Dupre was speaking at the opening of the lecture series in the University of Ottawa for the academic year 1931-32.

The post-war disarmament movement is based on agreement, Mr. Dupre said. "Its roots lie in the horror and futility of the last war; that war in which 10,000,000 men were killed and 13,000,000 missing; where the daily loss of life amounted to 16,586; where the parade of dead, marching 10 abreast from sunrise to sunset, would take 46 days to pass by a given spot."

Since the war the feeling had grown that not only did armaments fail to prevent war, but that they actually encouraged war. They not only failed to give security, but they prejudiced security. "Give a man a loaded gun, and he will likely want to pull the trigger," said Mr. Dupre. "Give him one that is superior to that possessed by anyone else, and the temptation will be irresistible."

The disarmament movement had been steadily developing to culminate in the coming Geneva conference, the Solicitor-General continued. The conference was the result of 10 years' steady preparation by the League of Nations. The question of its success or failure was dependent on many factors.

Mr. Dupre outlined the difficulties as well as the factors making for the success of the coming conference. Fear was the father of armaments, he said. "Remove fear and you remove guns, bayonets, poison gases and other abominations; provide security, and you can turn swords into plowshares—but not before."

There were political difficulties to be surmounted, and also technical difficulties. The challenge of new and more dangerous forms of armament must be met. He dealt with some of the possibilities presented by chemical discoveries, the effect of which would be to destroy life behind the actual fighting lines as well as in them.

Excess Freight Rates

Government Will Not Be Called Upon To Pay For Churchill Shipments

Ottawa, Ont.—The Dominion Government will not be called upon to absorb any excess freight charges for the handling of the two cargoes of wheat through Churchill this fall, it was announced by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals.

The Dominion agreed to handle the test-shipment for the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers on the basis of the Fort William and Montreal freight rates. If the cost of the shipments had been higher than this rate, the Dominion would have absorbed it. The Dominion did not levy elevator fees at Churchill.

Edmonton, Alberta. — Edmonton's Chinese residents are greatly concerned over the present trouble between China and Japan in Manchuria and a strong resolution urging the Chinese national government to declare war on Japan immediately has been cabled to Nanking and Canton by the Edmonton branch of the Chinese National League.

Lower Insurance Rates

Hope To Obtain More Favourable Consideration For H.B. Route

Ottawa, Ont.—The safe and expeditious voyage of the two freighters carrying test grain shipments from Port Churchill on Hudson Bay to Europe, will strengthen materially the case of the Department of Marine in its efforts to secure more favourable insurance rates on vessels using Hudson Straits, Alex. Johnston, Deputy Minister of Marine, states. The efforts of the department to secure lower insurance rates will be resumed in the near future.

In summing up his report to the department, following the docking of his vessel in London on October 4, Captain W. Mouat of the "Farnworth," said: "To sum up the position, and judging by the conditions prevailing this year, a vessel proceeding there (Port Churchill), in the proper season, fitted with a Gyro compass, a direction-finding outfit, and well ballasted, will experience no more difficulty in making a passage than she would in passing through Belle Isle."

Captain Mouat reported very little ice sighted on the passage in and out of the straits.

The only difficulty encountered by Captain Mouat was compass trouble when in certain sections of the straits, due to the proximity of the magnetic pole. At these points the compass would become sluggish and practically useless, he reported. This difficulty, however, could be easily surmounted, he said, with a Gyro compass.

Port facilities at Churchill were adequate and with dredging completed, Captain Mouat believed that next year three or four vessels could load at the same time efficiently.

Alberta Has Deficit

Operating Deficit Of $2,306,581 Shown For Last Fiscal Year

Edmonton, Alberta.—An operating deficit of $2,306,581 for the fiscal year ending March 31 last, was announced by the Alberta Government. A summary of the provincial current accounts was given out by Premier Brownlee, showing the results of the government's financial operations for the year. It was pointed out by the premier that it is the first time in a number of years that such a deficit has been reported.

From 1925 to 1930 inclusive the province showed a surplus of revenue over expenditure of $2,491,386, but that the surplus would for this last year be turned into a deficit has long since been a foregone conclusion.

In accounting for the deficit, Premier Brownlee states that two or three items alone, involving approximately $604,000, must be considered as special expenditures not ordinarily looked for in the expenditure of one year. These were: The provincial election of 1930, $160,000; freight charges on seed and relief to drought area, $57,000; and extra grants to schools, $387,000.

Premier Bennett Honored

McGill University Confers Degree Of Doctor Of Laws

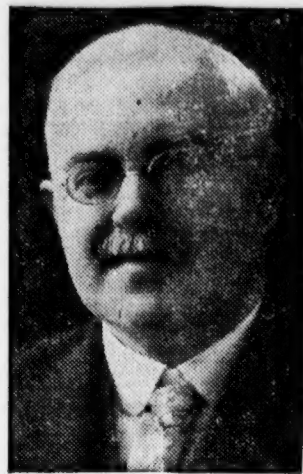

Montreal, Que. — Intermingling pomp and dignity with a colourful display of warmth of welcome, McGill University conferred upon Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett the degree of doctor of laws. And then as a climax the large audience attending the special convocation marking the opening of a three days' reunion, heard the Prime Minister in an address permeated with confidence in Canada.

"Let us be confident," Premier Bennett declared after remarking that the world's troubles might not be over but Canada's would be over, the sooner Canadians marched fearlessly to meet them. "Let us be bold and put to shame those who in their assumed wisdom forecast unending trouble and in the greed that springs from fear prefer themselves and their own interests and exploitations to the welfare of Canada as a whole."

Season's Work Finished

Ottawa, Ont.—The season's operations of Department of Marine vessels in the Hudson Straits area has been brought to a close and the ice-breaker N. B. McLean has left the straits to take up winter service in the St. Lawrence River. The "Arcadia," carrying the Dominion Government hydrographic survey party, has also sailed for home.

Believes Canada Will Drop Gold Standard

But Not As Permanent Measure Says Dr. Swanson

Saskatoon, Sask.—Dr. W. W. Swanson, who accompanied Premier Bennett last year when he attended the Imperial Conference, is of the belief that it will not be long before Canada follows the example of Great Britain, and drops the gold standard.

Addressing the members of the Kiwanis Club here, on the subject of "Currency and International Finance," he stated that this step would not be permanent but that eventually the Dominion would return to the gold standard. He regarded financiers of the United States as only amateurs when compared with those who have controlled British finance, and declares that the pound sterling is of far more concern to Canada than is the United States dollar.

May Ask Legislation For Party Funds

Proposal Is Forecast For Next Session Of Parliament

Ottawa, Ont.—The Ottawa Citizen publishes the following:

"A proposal for legislation at the next session of parliament on the subject of campaign funds is forecast as a prospective development. Whether it will emanate from a western Liberal or western Progressive is not certain, but someone, it is said to be agreed, will come forward with it."

"From the Beauharnois inquiry the repercussions have been considerable and while legitimate election expenses call for contributions, the purpose is to develop a method of overcoming this secrecy."

President Of Spain Resigns

Trouble Came Over Measures Restricting Religious Orders

Madrid, Spain.—Niceto Alcalá Zamora, who has served as provisional president of Spain since the ousting of King Alfonso XIII., six months ago, has resigned with his cabinet and was succeeded within a few hours by Manuel Azana, his minister of war.

The shift of government resulted from the measures restricting religious orders that have been inculcated by the assembly in the constitution under which republican Spain will be governed, and it was accompanied by spectacular street demonstrations.

Bands of Communists and anti-clericals roamed the streets of Madrid singing the "Red Flag," and shouting "Down with the Catholic Church" and "Death to all Jesuits." Most intense excitement prevailed as a consequence of the bitter parliamentary fight over the status of the church and ecclesiastical organizations in the new-born republic.

Anti-Dumping Tariff Displeasing To Italy

Newspaper States Canada's Action Regarding Imports Is Unfair

Rome, Italy.—Displeasure in Italy at the decision of the Canadian Government to apply anti-dumping tariff provisions against imports from countries whose currency has depreciated on foreign exchange markets was reflected in an editorial appearing in Giornale Di Italia.

It is unfair, the newspaper said, to apply anti-dumping provisions against Italian imports, as the lira still remains on the gold standard, and any oscillation in its rate of exchange will be of short duration.

Reinforcing its argument with statistics the newspaper said that during the last three years the value of Canadian goods imported by Italy had been greatly in excess of the value of Italian merchandise imported into Canada.

Contribute To Relief Work

Eastern Ministers Giving Part Of Salaries To West

Toronto, Ont.—Pastors under the jurisdiction of Toronto West Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, recently decided to donate a percentage of their salaries for relief work in Western Canada.

The decision was made at a meeting of the Presbytery held in New Toronto. Pastors with a salary of $3,000 a year will subscribe ten per cent. of their salary for a period of one year, while those on a salary of less than $3,000 a year will give ten per cent. of their salary for a period of six months.

Using Unsinkable Boat

Lisbon.—Fritz Engler, a 30-year-old sailor, set sail October 14, for New York in a rubber boat which he claims is unsinkable. He expects to make the trip in 70 days via the Canary Islands and the Bahamas. The boat is fitted with two sails and pair of oars, and the deck can be hermetically sealed in rough weather.

KING GEORGE RIDES TO CHURCH

THINKS POUND STERLING WILL CONTINUE LOW

Quebec, Que.—The pound sterling had been "pegged" at too high a rate previously and he did not think Great Britain would ever return it to a par of $4.86%, Lord Rothermere, British newspaper peer, stated in a brief interview here before sailing for home on the "Empress of Britain."

"I don't think that Great Britain will ever return the sterling to par of $4.86%. She will come back to a gold standard in time, but the pound was pegged at too high a rate of exchange and was economically unsound," the publisher declared.

Lord Rothermere made a flying visit to Canada to hold conferences here with representatives of the newsprint industry in which he is financially interested.

The world depression would not be over for some time and in Great Britain it need not be expected to let up for another 12 or 18 months, he said.

In reply to a question, Lord Rothermere said he thought the recent decrease in unemployment insurance payments were "all to the good." Lord Rothermere expressed the opinion that the present low rate for the Canadian dollar would give Canada a fine chance to increase her export trade.

His next visit to Canada, probably before the end of the year, would possibly take him to British Columbia to inspect some property in which he was interested, Lord Rothermere said.

Reduced Rail Fares

Teachers and Students To Obtain Special Rates For Yuletide Holidays

Montreal, Que.—Reduced railway fares for teachers and students at schools and colleges far from home will be put in effect for Christmas, New Year and Easter holidays by the railways of Canada; it was announced here by the Canadian Passenger Association.

The round trip fares will be reduced to one and a quarter times the single fare, it was announced. Dates of the sale of such tickets will be governed by holiday dates of the various schools and colleges throughout the country.

A certificate signed by the director or headmaster of the school or college will be necessary to secure the reduced fare.

Ship Gold To Europe

France and U.S. Control Three-fifths Of World's Supply

New York.—The torrent of monetary gold which has been flowing from New York into the coffers of Europe was swelled recently by $47,762,400.

This brings the total net loss of gold to approximately $568,000,000 since September 1, most of which was taken in the last four weeks, or since the suspension of the gold standard in Great Britain.

While latest official figures are several days old, it is now estimated in Wall Street that the monetary gold stock in this country is close to $4,500,000,000, and that France's has increased to nearly $2,500,000,000. The two countries control roughly three-fifths of the world's entire supply.

First Canadian Entrant In International Show

Saskatchewan Man Heads List For Second Consecutive Year

Chicago, Ill.—First Canadian entrant in the 1931 International Grain and Hay Show at Chicago, is James A. Paur, of Langham, Sask. Distinction for having sent in the first entry from Canada to this competitive crops display went to the same Saskatchewan grower last year.

The International Grain and Hay Show is a department of the International Livestock Exposition, which will be held at the Chicago stockyards, November 28 to December 5.

Paur will be an exhibitor in the oats and rye classes of the 1931 show.

Scotland's potato acreage is 5,000 greater than last year.

EDISON IS DEAD

Thomas A. Edison is dead. He passed away on Sunday morning, October 18th, after a lingering illness, at the age of 84 years. The gap in public and scientific life caused by his death will be hard to fill.

Edison was the greatest among the world's inventors and one of the few men of all time to devote their lives to invention as a profession. The work of no other man in the field of electrical science approaches the extent and range of his activities, which were solely in the direction of devices which have stimulated industry and focused advancement more rapidly in a decade than any other influence in like time in the history of the world.

The work of Thomas Edison includes so many great inventions and has built up so many industries that it is impossible to point out any one of his triumphs as his greatest. Among the most note worthy however, are: the incandescent lamp (electric lighting was brought to its high efficiency through his genius); the dynamo; the moving picture camera; and the machine for showing moving pictures on the screen. Edison also made great improvements in the telephone and telegraph systems and has many inventions to his credit along these lines.

The number of Edison's patents is said to be in excess of 2,500.

The scientific world will miss Edison from its ranks. He has made life much easier for the general world through his inventions and we all owe him a debt of gratitude.

THE HOME TOWN

One can scarcely visit any small town without hearing someone make the following or similar remark: "This is the dearest hole on earth. There is simply nothing doing in this town. I am dying to move to the city."

Such people want to be amused every minute of every day and most of the night in order that they may not have time to reflect on the empty dry hunks of their own lives. If ever they find themselves for a moment unamused they see their town as their own lives are—empty and lifeless. On the other hand our town may be a little below its possibilities and it may not be the lure of the city that is causing the trouble.

A man on visiting a city asylum said to one of the guards: "are you not in danger? What is to hinder these many insane people from getting together and locking you few guards up?"
The guard replied: "If these people were wise enough to get together they would be in their homes in the country linguarded." Is there not a home town anywhere that has not some time suffered from a lack of getting together? Social activities, educational interests and religion, the very things that should unite people, too often become walls of separation.

When this is the case the home town becomes unattractive. The young people leave. The older people live most monotonous lives. Many go to the cities to jostle with the altogether too many strap hangers that are already there. Ninety and nine out of every hundred of these brilliant young folk, with abilities capable of greatness, when once in the city become lost. Often they become costly liabilities.

Let us strive to make the home town playground, school and church more attractive and more interesting. No home town can afford to spend year after year in raising a crop of young lives for the city to devour and destroy. That is the very poorest kind of business, all going out and nothing coming in. The world is becoming poorer in life and richer in misery.

Alberta is great. Overcrowded cities are never marks of greatness. Alberta's greatness must ever be found among the people who live in her innumerable beautiful rural homes, and in her character and quality of her countless home towns.

When the prodigal came to himself, he thought of what he had left in his home town. Whenever one will stop chasing fraudulent wealth, giddy amusement and empty power long enough to think, one's thoughts will always come home with a vision of

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

He made no answer, but released her instantly, and in her anxiety to show him how well she could manage she hurried on, struck the tip of the skate she was still wearing against a little hummock of frozen snow, and all but fell. He caught her as she stumbled.

"I think," he remarked drily, "you would do well to sacrifice your independence till your feet are on more equal terms with one another."

Jean laughed ruefully.

"I think I should," she agreed meekly.

He led her to where the prone trunk of a tree offered a seat of sorts, then went in search of the missing skate. Returning in a few moments, he knelt beside her and fastened it on—securely this time—to the slender foot she extended towards him.

"You're much too incompetent to be out on the ice alone," he remarked as he buckled the last strap.

A faint flush of annoyance rose in Jean's cheeks at the uncompromising frankness of the observation.

"What are your friends thinking of to let you do such a thing?" he pursued, blandly ignoring her mute indignation.

"I have no friends here. I am—my own mistress," she replied rather tartly.

He was still kneeling in the snow in front of her. Now he sat back on his heels and subjected her face to a sharp, swift scrutiny. Almost, she thought, she detected a sudden veiled suspicion in the keen glance.

"You're not the sort of girl to be knocking about—alone—at a hotel," he said at last, as though satisfied.

"How do you know what I'm like?" she retorted quickly. "You are hardly qualified to judge."

"Pardon, mademoiselle, I do not know what you are—but I do know very certainly what you are not. And"—smiling a little—"I think we have just had ocular demonstration of the fact that you're not accustomed to fending for yourself."

There was something singularly attractive about his smile. It lightened his whole face, contradicting the settled gravity that seemed habitual to it, and Jean found herself smiling back in response.

"Well, as a matter of fact, I'm not," she admitted. "I came here with my father, and he was—was suddenly called away. I am going on to stay with friends."

"This is my last day here," he remarked with sudden irrelevance. "I am off first thing tomorrow morning."

"You're not stopping at the hotel, are you?"

He shook his head.

"No, I'm staying at a friend's chalet a little way beyond it. 'Mais, voyons, mademoiselle,' you will catch cold sitting there. Are you too frightened to try the ice again?"

He seemed to assume that her next essay would be made in his company. Jean spoke a little hurriedly.

"Oh, no, I was supposed to have a lesson with Monsieur Griole this morning. He is an instructor," she explained. "But he was engaged coaching someone else when I came out."

"And which is this Monsieur Griole? Can you see him?"

Jean's glance ranged over the scattered figures on the rink.

"Yes. There he is."

His eyes followed the direction indicated.

"He seems to be well occupied at the moment," he commented. "Suppose—would you allow me to act as coach instead?"

She hesitated. This stranger appeared to be uncompromisingly progressive in his tendencies.

"I'm perfectly capable," he added curtly.

"I'm sure of that. But—"

His eyes twinkled.

"But it would not be quite 'comme il faut'?" Is that it?"

"Well, it wouldn't, would it?" she retorted.

His face grew suddenly grave, and she noticed that when in repose there were deep, straight lines on either side of his mouth—lines that are usually only furrowed by severe suffering, either mental or physical.

"Mademoiselle," he said quietly.

"To-day, it seems, we are two very lonely people. Couldn't we forget what is 'comme il faut' for once? We shall probably never meet again. We know nothing of each other—just 'ships that pass in the night.' Let us keep one another company—take this one day together."

He drew a step nearer to her.

"Will you?" he said. "Will you?"

He was looking down at her with eyes that were curiously bright and compelling. There was a tense note in his voice which once again sent that disconcerting tremor of consciousness tingling through her blood.

She knew that his proposal was impertinent, unconventional, even regarded from the standpoint of the modern broad interpretation of the word convention, and that by every law of Mrs. Grundy she ought to snub him soundly for his presumption and retrace her steps to the hotel with all the dignity at her command.

But she did none of these things. Instead, she stood hesitating, alternately flushing and paling beneath the oddly concentrated gaze he bent on her.

"I swear it shall bind you to nothing," he pursued urgently. "Not even to recognizing me in the street should our ways ever chance to cross again. Though that is hardly likely to occur"—with a shrug—"seeing that mademoiselle is French and that I am rarely out of England. It will be just one day that we shall have shared together out of the whole of life, and after that the 'darkness again and a silence.' . . . I can promise you the 'silence'!" he added with a sudden harsh inflection.

It was that bitter note which won the day. In some subtle, subconscious way Jean sensed the pain which lay at the back of it. She answered impulsively:

"Very well. It shall be as you wish."

A rarely sweet smile curved the man's grave lips.

"Thank you," he said simply.

CHAPTER IV.

The Stolen Day

"Encore une fois! Bravo! That went better!"

Monsieur Griole's understudy had amply justified his claim to capability. After a morning's tuition at his hands, Jean found her prowess in the art of skating considerably enhanced. She was even beginning to master the mysteries of "cross-cuts" and "rocking turns," and a somewhat attenuated figure eight lay freshly scored on the ice to her credit.

"You are really a wonderful instructor," she acknowledged, surveying the graven witness to her progress with considerable satisfaction. Her self-appointed teacher smiled.

HER FAT HAD TO GO

Activity Melted it

Exercise is the enemy of fat. If you are overburdened with superfluous flesh, call up reserves of energy to fight it. Do as this lady did:—

"During the past six months, I have made steady improvement whilst taking Kruschen Salts. I have reduced 28 lbs. in weight during that period, and have benefited greatly from greater agility and liveliness—all directly attributable to that famous preparation."—Mrs. W. P.

You can take off fat with Kruschen Salts if you will take one-half teaspoon in hot water every morning before breakfast, modify your diet and exercise regularly.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer, and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings. The old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work and active recreation and you'll sleep like a top. You'll lose fat, and probably live years longer.

"There is something to be said for the pupil, also," he replied. "But now"—glancing at his watch—"I vote we call a halt for lunch."

"Lunch!" Jean's glance measured the distance to the hotel with some dismay.

"But not lunch at the hotel," interposed her companion quickly. Jean regarded him with curiosity.

"Where then, monsieur?"

"Up there!" he pointed towards the pine-woods. "Above the woods there is a hut of sorts—erected as a shelter in case of sudden storms for people coming up from the lower valley to Montavan and beyond. It's a rough little shanty, but it would serve very well as a temporary salle a manger. It isn't a long climb," he added persuasively. "Are you too tired to take it on after your recent exertion?"

"Not in the least. But are you expecting a wayside refuge of that description to be miraculously endowed with a well-furnished larder?"

"No. But I think my knapsack can make good the deficiency," he replied composedly.

Jean looked at him with dancing eyes. Having once yielded to the day's unconventional adventure, she had surrendered herself wholeheartedly to the enjoyment of it.

She made one reservation, however. Some instinct of self-protection prevented her from enlightening her companion as to her partly English nationality. There was no real necessity for it, seeing that he spoke French with the utmost fluency, and his assumption that she was a French woman seemed in some way to limit the feeling of intimacy, conferring on her, as it were, a little of the freedom of an incognito.

"A la bonne heure!" she exclaimed gaily. "So you invite me to share your lunch, monsieur le professeur?"

"I've invited you to share my day, haven't I?" he replied, smiling.

They steered for the bank, and when he had helped off her skates and removed his own, slinging them over his arm, they started off along the steep white track which wound its way upwards through the pine-woods.

As they left the bright sunlight that still glittered on the snowy slopes behind them, it seemed as though they plunged suddenly into another world—a still, mysterious, twilight place, where the snow underfoot muffled the sound of their steps and the long shadows of the pines barred their path with sinister, distorted shapes.

Germany Building Glass Houses

Young Woman Architect Predicts They Will Be Common

People who live in glass houses will be no more exceptional than those whose dwellings are brick, stone or wood ten or fifteen years from now, according to Margaret V. Van Pelt, young New York architect. Miss Van Pelt, who recently became a member of a long established New York firm of architects, has returned to work in her New York office after a year studying trends in architecture in Europe.

"The Germans are building glass houses already," she explained. "I saw several of them. Of course the glass has to be of the strongest sort. They are using glass also to decorate interiors. Sometimes it is transparent and sometimes black.

"Glass, metal and strong colour contrasts in decorating exteriors are the newest notes in building design in Germany. The tendency toward geometric effects is even more marked than in our American skyscrapers. City blocks in which pink, blue, beige and mauve coloured houses stand side by side are being erected."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

SUNFLOWER'S SONG

The sunflower owes allegiance
To nothing save the sun;
But, ah! how can she meet the hours
When day is done?

Her fealty is splendid,
Her very heart she bares;
But as dusk deepens she must know
What bleak despair!

I know how she must shudder
Through the black abyss of night;
In all the whirling universe
No golden light!

I know how she must ache for
The signal-lights of dawn;
Her fear-filled vigils I can share
Since you are gone!

Yet eastward I am looking,
Morn's gates are almost won;
I lift my petals up in hope,
Come back, my sun!

Will Take Precautions

Treasure Seekers May Carry Arms To Guard Against Sea Pirates

Precautions against hijackers, such as occasionally raid rich liquor laden ships, will be taken by Lieut.-Col. J. E. Leckie, head of the Vancouver expedition which in a few weeks will sail to Cocos Island to search for the buried treasure of ancient pirates.

Col. Leckie has communicated with the Department of National Defence seeking permission to arm his ship against eventualities on the sea or on Cocos Island. Col. Leckie wants the use of machine guns and "pompoms" which are in the arsenal at Esquimalt. Even if this permission is not granted, the ship will be armed against possible sea raiders. Col. Leckie has already arranged to carry privately owned machine guns and numerous rifles.

Health cannot be looked for in the child that is subject to worms, because worms destroy health by creating internal disturbances that retard development and cause serious weakness. Miller's Worm Powders expel worms and are so beneficial in their action that the systems of the little sufferers are restored to healthfulness, all the discomforts and dangers of worm infection are removed, and satisfactory growth is assured.

He married a spinster who owned over a thousand head of poultry.

Little Helps For This Week

"In your patience possess ye your souls."—Luke xxi. 19.

Hold in thy murmurs Heaven arraignment;
The patient see God's loving face;
Who bear their burdens uncomplaining,
'Tis they that win the Father's grace.

The soul loses command of itself when it is impatient. Whereas, when it submits without a murmur, it possesses itself in peace, and possesses God. To be impatient is to desire what we have not, or not to desire what we have. An impatient soul is a prey to passions unrestrained by reason of faith. What weakness, what delusion! When we acquiesce in an evil, it is no longer such. Why make a real calamity of it by resistance? Peace does not dwell in outward things, but within the soul. We may preserve it in the midst of bitterest pain if our will remains firm and submissive. Peace in this life springs from acquiescence even in disagreeable things, not in an exemption from bearing them.

Freedom From Asthma. Asthma is one of the most distressing troubles, sudden in its attacks and prolonged in its agonies. Frequently many things are tried, but nothing seems to give hope of relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is the one help which can be depended upon. If you have tried other remedies without success, do not fail to get at once a package of this uniformly successful preparation.

Catfish Leather

Catfish leather may eventually win favour with the lady of fashion for her handbag or shoes. Not until recently has a market been found for catfish caught in Nova Scotia, but a firm of leather manufactures in the United States has found that a soft and pliable product can be made from the skins of catfish dyed in the gayest or most sombre of colours, with the result that catfish skins are being shipped from Yarmouth County, Nova Scotia. The price paid for the raw skins is about 15 cents each.

BABY FRETFUL, RESTLESS?

Look to this cause

When your baby fusses, tosses and seems unable to sleep restfully, look for one common cause, doctors say. Constipation. To get rid quickly of the accumulated wastes which cause restlessness and discomfort, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Castoria, you know, is made specially for children's delicate needs. It is a pure vegetable preparation; contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. It is so mild and gentle you can give it to a young infant to relieve colic. Yet it is as effective for older children. Castoria's regulative help will bring relaxed comfort and restful sleep to your baby. Keep a bottle on hand. Genuine Castoria always has the name:
